

The Center for Research on College-Workforce Transitions (CCWT) at UW-Madison is excited to introduce the nine scholars selected to take part in our inaugural 12-month Early Career Scholars Program 2023. Scholars receive access to CCWT’s state-of-the-art data, content, tools, professional development, research mentorship, and a $2,500 stipend to support their scholarship and professional development. Over the course of the program, scholars and CCWT investigators will meet to share expertise, and each scholar will develop and present a project related to CCWT’s mission.

Mun Yuk Chin
Assistant Professor of Counseling Psychology,
University of Nebraska-
Lincoln

Daniel Corral
Assistant Professor,
Department of Leadership,
Adult & Higher Education,
University of Toronto

Vanessa Delgado
Assistant Professor,
Department of Sociology,
Washington State
University

Pa Her
Clinical Assistant
Professional/Assistant
Director of the Counseling
Psychology Training Clinic,
University of Wisconsin-
Madison

Taewon Kim
Ph.D. Candidate:
Counseling Psychology,
University of Houston

Ryan J. Parsons
Assistant Professor, Sociology
and Southern Studies,
University of Mississippi

Jason Perry
Assistant Professor of
Sport Management,
Howard University

Kara A. Woods
Research Analyst, Socially Disadvantaged Farmers and Ranchers Policy
Research Center

Trevor McCray
Research Associate,
University of Wisconsin-
Madison, CCWT